Using our logo

You must use the acknowledgement logo on all materials you produce, such as posters or leaflets and include it on your website.

Logo artwork

The logo must be used exactly as it is, and all elements (the text and both pieces of artwork) are locked into a specific relationship that creates one piece of artwork, you cannot alter or remove any part of it. We have put the artwork for the acknowledgement logo on our website tnlcommunityfund.org.uk/scottishlandfund.

If you cannot access this, email the branding team at: branding@tnlcommunityfund.org.uk and they will help you.

Which version?

The acknowledgement logo is available in full colour or grey. We prefer you to use the colour one unless this is more expensive for you to print.

It is available in two file formats. We recommend the 'JPEG' format for most day-to-day uses, including things like word documents, websites or social media.

We have also provided an EPS format, sometimes referred to as a 'vector' file. This file will only work in professional design software, and should be used for large scale print and merchandise (e.g. banners, pop-up stands, large vehicle stickers).

Not too small

So the mark is readable and recognisable it should not be reproduced smaller than 35mm in height on printed material. If you are going to use it on your website please make sure it is large enough to be clearly legible.

Notes for editors

If you are doing promotional work, such as sending out press releases, or if you would like a standard piece of text for your annual report or website please use the text below as it gives accurate information fund.
