Important information about this project outline

This project outline represents just one strand of the overall funding that is available through Building Better Opportunities. As this is a joint programme with the European Social Fund, we will only consider applications that clearly meet a project outline and meet the requirements set out in our programme guide.

As you read this project outline, please note the following:

- This project outline is subject to any changes made to the ESF Operational Programme in England when it is officially adopted by the European Commission. The Fund will upload any updates to <https://www.biglotteryfund.org.uk/esf>. It is your responsibility to review the page regularly to keep abreast of any changes that may impact on your application.
- You must apply for the full amount of funding available shown, which we will award to just one applicant or partnership to deliver the project described in this outline.
- The project must be delivered in the LEP area(s) shown and within any specific project location we've identified within this outline.
- You must plan to start and complete your project by the dates indicated. By 'complete' we mean that you must have spent and claimed all of the grant and closed your project.
- Your proposed project must align with the project description we've provided within this outline and include any specific activities listed.
- You must submit your stage one application by the deadline we've given above.
- Your proposed project should include appropriate links to potential employers and self-employment opportunities. The specific interventions must enable a comprehensive assessment of an individual's needs that are tailored to help them move towards work and out of poverty.
- You must demonstrate that the activities you are proposing will be additional to any national and statutory provision. This could include for example: wrap around support that works with people to overcome the barriers that prevent them engaging effectively with statutory provision, or more in-depth and intensive support to the most disadvantaged people, which they can access alongside the statutory provision they are entitled to.
- Activities must be locally accessible and be led by skilled front line staff.
- The people who will benefit from the project must come from the eligible participant groups we've identified in our programme guide, with a specific focus on those unemployed or economically inactive, furthest from the labour market, and most at risk of social exclusion. We may also specify particular project participants within this outline that must benefit from some or all of the activities you'll deliver.
- You must be confident that you'll be able to deliver the project outputs and results, taking into account the value, length and nature of the project we've described. We will monitor the delivery of the project to ensure these outputs and results will be met over its lifetime.
- You should have experience of delivering similar services and of identifying and working with people who face significant challenges in engaging with the labour market. You must demonstrate an understanding of the needs of local people, and show how you will work with existing local providers of related services and engage those most in need in the local area.
- Organisations can be involved in more than one application, either as a lead or a partner. However, lead partners might set their own requirements on partners' involvement in other applications so please check local requirements with the lead partner.
- Subject to satisfactory performance, there may be the potential to extend the project duration and/or increase the funding available for this project once activities have commenced.

If you think your organisation, or a partnership led by your organisation, would be able to deliver the project we've described then you can request a stage one application form on our website www.biglotteryfund.org.uk/esf.

Project background

Although employment rates are, on the whole, relatively high in the Coast To Capital (CTC) Local Enterprise partnership (LEP) area, there are, nevertheless, geographic areas and sections of the population that are not benefiting equally from the economic/social opportunities the area as a whole has to offer. There are significant numbers of unemployed individuals, including long-term unemployed (LTU) and those who have never worked. CTC intends to address these challenges by providing ESF-funded support where it is additional to existing provision, there is clear evidence that the problem will not right itself and there is a case for additional intervention.

There were 55,300 unemployed people in CTC in 2014 and a further 68,100 who were economically inactive and wanting a job, representing 30 per cent of the economically inactive population. (Source: ONS Annual Population Survey). Youth unemployment is a particular issue: in the CTC region youth unemployment is currently standing at 17.3 per cent, around 22,000 people. Youth unemployment makes up 37 per cent of total unemployment in the region despite the age group making up 18% of the working age population. Those young people who are not in education, employment or training (NEET) are also a matter of concern; Department for Education figures estimate that there are 3,390 people who are NEET in CTC. Sections of the community, such as lone parents and the disabled face additional challenges and the unemployment rate for women is higher than that for men at 6.1 per cent compared to 4.8 per cent. In certain areas, wage levels are low, the employment on offer is often unattractive and progression opportunities limited. In such circumstances individuals often face multiple barriers: for example, low and outdated skills, digital exclusion, health issues, lack of affordable childcare or affordable transport.

The LEP's work to date through consultation and workshop events confirms that successful work to equip those who are most disadvantaged with skills for inclusion and employment requires a strong understanding of local need and good engagement with local networks.

There are ten projects being delivered in the Coast To Capital LEP area through Building Better Opportunities:

Project 1: Interventions with NEETs;

Project 2: Return to work provision for the long term unemployed;

Project 3: Family focused labour market provision;

Project 4: Health and wellbeing focused labour market;

Project 5: Housing-centred solutions to people out of work;

Project 6: Developing community led ESF provision;

Project 7: Supporting social enterprise set up and growth;

Project 8: Community inclusion: informal and community learning;

Project 9: Social enterprise ESF delivery;

Project 10: Increasing employment levels in social enterprises and community groups.

Applicants should ensure they are fully aware of the other projects we will be funding in the Coast to Capital LEP area (even if they only plan to submit an application for this project).

Project aim

The Thematic Objective 9 projects in the Coast to Capital LEP area (including all the BBO projects) will form a wrap-around, multi-agency support programme funded under ESF for the Long Term Unemployed, NEETs, young people, lone parents, people with disabilities, and other disadvantaged groups (e.g. those requiring additional support with regard to travel to work, support to in the first few weeks/months of employment to manage the transition, finance and debt management, alcohol harm reduction, basic skills training or confidence-building and softer/social skills training).

This particular project aims to support participants with health and wellbeing barriers, or issues which place them at a distance from the labour market, towards and into employment. Participants will typically face interconnected multiple barriers to job or training entry.

The impact/change that we want to see can be summarised as:

- entry into employment, education or training or further job search;
- the development of work experience/history;
- measurable movement towards the labour market;
- resulting increases in capability, motivation, self-confidence and self-esteem.

The successful applicant will need to demonstrate an understanding of the local area and of working with those hardest to reach.

Project description

The specific activities to be delivered through this project should be determined by applicants and clearly articulated in their stage one application form, but possible activities could include:

- one to one support;
- support to become work-ready (for example, access to learning, training, volunteering, work trials, work placements, work experience and job opportunities);
- help to plan the route towards employment, recognising that it may not be straightforward, especially for people who face complex challenges;
- support to enable participants to overcome wider barriers to employment, particularly where these relate to managing health issues, working with other agencies, and signposting and referring participants on to mainstream and other services, as necessary;
- an assessment of each individual's needs, followed by tailored additional support measures;
- engagement with employers and other agencies;
- in-work/in-training support for participants who progress to work or training, to help them manage the transition.

Applicants are encouraged to consider a wide range of innovative delivery models.

Project location

The project could be delivered within any part of the Coast to Capital LEP area.

Applicants should state clearly where they foresee activities occurring and demonstrate that their delivery plans in any given geography make sense given the levels of need or demand that apply to particular issues and/or target groups. If there are known "hotspots" where particular challenges are significant in size or extent this should be taken into account and the proposed approach explained and justified.

As well as demonstrating that delivery plans reflect varying local levels of need, applicants should take care to ensure they provide evidence that the level of demand in any geographic areas which they specify is sufficient to achieve target volumes.

The geography of the area is diverse and consists of urban and rural areas as well as territory that combines features of both. Applicants should demonstrate that they have taken account of this geography and that, for example, the proposed deliver model does not effectively debar participation to those in rural communities. Where the geography itself results in additional barriers to participation or success, applicants should demonstrate how they have taken this into account and how they will overcome such barriers.

Project participants

All participants must be unemployed or economically inactive as defined in our programme guide.

The project will have a specific focus on those out of work and people who are most at risk of social exclusion and of exclusion from the labour market in particular people with long term health problems and disabilities. This includes, but is not limited to:

- people with disabilities;
- people with long term health conditions (physical and/or mental);
- people with substance misuse issues.

If the applicant intends to focus on groups facing other challenges, these should be listed, quantified and justified in the application.

We recognise that many people face multiple disadvantages and so could be eligible for more than one of the BBO projects in the CTC area. In such cases, it is up to the individual to choose which project they would prefer to engage with. Providers should work closely together to ensure that people are aware of the range of support on offer and can access the service that will best meet their needs.

Whilst we can support activities for young people between the ages of 15 and 18, there is a new statutory requirement for this age group to remain in education, employment or training. We can only pay for activities working with young people who are aged 16-29 and who are not in education, employment or training (NEET) and young people aged 15-18 who are NEET or at risk of becoming NEET. Young people below the age of 15 are ineligible participants. Unless the project is specifically aimed at young people, those aged 29+ remain eligible participants.

Project outputs and results

The project must deliver the following outputs and results within its lifetime:

- At least 200 people are engaged in activities to improve their work readiness, including at least:
 - 100 men;
 - 100 women;
 - 50 people who are unemployed;
 - 150 people who are economically inactive;
 - 42 people who are 50 or older;
 - 155 people with disabilities;
 - 15 people from ethnic minorities.

N.B. each person can be counted against more than one category.

- At least 11 per cent of the people enrolled on the project move into education or training on leaving.
- At least 9 per cent of people move into employment, including self-employment, on leaving. Of these, 22 per cent must have been unemployed when joining the project and 78 per cent must have been economically inactive.
- At least 17 per cent of people who were economically inactive when joining the project move into job-search on leaving.
- In addition, you must ensure that anyone who needs access to childcare in order to participate in the project receives childcare support. This will be checked through a survey run by the Managing Authority.

These are the minimum targets we expect your project to deliver within its lifetime. Tell us if you will be able to support more people through the project, as this could have a bigger impact. Our assessment of your stage one application will take into account the different types of change that participants of the project will experience. If you are successful at stage one, we will ask you to develop a set of project outcomes that you will deliver alongside the outputs outlined above.
