Denis Law Legacy Trust	Aberdeen City	£90,000	The group will continue their 'Granite City Speaks' project for a further three years. The group delivers activity programmes across Aberdeen for young people aged 8-19 years old living in areas of deprivation/regeneration and/or hot spots of youth anti-social behaviour. They will sustain their youth forum that ensures their programmes are led by young people, and broaden them to create sub-groups in each area of Aberdeen City the organisation delivers. It is expected that around 70 young people will participate in the roles.
The Oban Youth Cafe Project Limited (OYC)	Argyll and Bute	£94,950	This group will use the funding to sustain their youth café activities for young people aged 10-19 from Oban and the surrounding areas. The three-year project will engage up to 300 young people through a preventive, diversionary and fun programme including after-school clubs, nurture groups, holiday activity, drop-ins and music sessions. The Café has a strong track record in producing positive outcomes for often vulnerable young people including building support networks, increasing confidence, developing new interests and establishing positive peer relationships.
Adoption UK Charity	City of Edinburgh	£90,108	This group will use the funding to deliver a holistic youth support programme for children and young people who have been adopted, live in kinship care or have FASD. The will engage and empower 300 young people across Scotland through age-specific social activities and personal advocacy opportunities. This peer-support model will create a life-long support network for young people often facing health, educational and relationship challenges.
Tamfourhill Tenants and Residents Organisation	Falkirk	£99,979	The group will work with young people aged 8 to 24 years across Camelon and Tamfourhill to encourage youth led community action in the area. A newly appointed Youth Development worker will work with 200 young people and 20 volunteers over 3 years.
ANYISO	Glasgow City	£99,686	The group will use the funding to continue to deliver their youth project for young people aged 8 to 18 years from minority ethnic backgrounds in the Northwest of Glasgow. Over the 3 years the project will involve around 150 young people and 30 volunteers.
Concrete Garden	Glasgow City	£99,998	The group will use the funding to continue to deliver their Outdoor Play project for Young People in the Possilpark area of Glasgow. Over the 3 years, approximately 750 young people and 60 volunteers will be involved in the project.

Glasgow Connected Arts Network CiC	Glasgow City	£86,124	This group will use the funding to deliver a professional development arts programme for young people aged 13-24 in Glasgow. The project consists of regular networking meetings, participatory arts short courses and a sustainability grant developed and led by young people. The project will benefit 400 young people and 90 volunteers over two years.
Govanhill Baths Community Trust	Glasgow City	£96,300	This group will use the funding to continue and expand their programme of the youth club and youth led activities in the Govanhill area. The project offers a drop in and membership youth club operating a minimum of 4 weekly sessions for children and young people, aged 8-18 years from a variety of backgrounds and ethnicities, and focuses on exploring creative ways young people can make positive changes to their lives and within the wider community. Over the next three years the project aims to engage with approximately 4300 young people with the support of at least 12 volunteers.
Access Technology Scotland CIC	Inverclyde	£74,243	This organisation will use the funding for a training programme which will teach young people about in-depth technical skills, such as refurbishing computers, as well as the intricacies of running a business, the importance of reducing landfill and the concept of the circular economy. Lastly, they expect to be able to distribute refurbished digital equipment to the wider community and, in so doing, tackling digital poverty across Inverclyde.
Magic Torch Comics CIC	Inverclyde	£67,190	The project will work with young people from targeted services and community groups, as well as young people more widely across Inverclyde, over two years to create comics, games, stories and story resources which reflect their imagination and lived experience. It will allow participants to explore situations, feelings and concerns through characters and storytelling. All publications will be launched at events organised by young people, with free copies being distributed to schools, youth facilities and libraries before being made freely available online. Publication will also be showcased at local and national events such as the Scottish Mental Health Arts and Film Festival and Glasgow Comicon.
Children 1st	North Ayrshire	£89,037	This organisation will use the funding to continue delivering their 'L.E.A.D.' programme for young people affected by significant trauma in North Ayrshire. Based on participant's feedback, the project will deliver activities focused on building confidence, self-esteem, resilience, learning essential life skills, supporting good mental health/emotional wellbeing and the development of healthy boundaries. The project will engage 275 children and young people across Bourtreehill, Irvine.

Girvan Youth Trust	South Ayrshire	£68,800	The group will continue their detached youth work project, StreetLights, which complements their traditional building-based youthwork, by providing support for those harder to reach/disengaged/vulnerable young people in public spaces. They will provide positive adult role models to support young people with their wellbeing as well as providing information regarding safety, drugs and alcohol or anti-social behaviours. The service is offered on four evenings per week by a team of two youth workers. The project is to benefit 200 young people and involve 5 volunteers over three years.
Community Volunteers Enabling You Ltd	South Lanarkshire	£90,000	This group will use the funding to deliver Covey ANGELS (Additional Needs Gaining Experience for Life Skills) young adult group. The project provides weekly befriending, mentoring and support through group activities and social opportunities for young people with additional support needs aged 14-24. Young volunteers, recruited from local high schools, help to facilitate sessions and mentor beneficiaries. Sessions provide opportunities for young people to make friends, build confidence and participate in social activities they may not otherwise have access to. Up to 25 young people and 8 volunteers from across South Lanarkshire will benefit.
Scottish Sports Futures	Stirling	£99,179	The group will use the funding to deliver a range of peer led youth work and sports activity aimed at young people aged 10-19 years who live in the village of Fallin. The project will aim to reduce anti social behaviour and increase participation in wellbeing and physical activity amongst the target age group. All activities will be planned and delivered by 20 volunteer Young Leaders supported by a f/t Youth Development Coordinator. 600 young people will benefit from the delivered activities over 3 years.
